

BERLIN SCHOOL OF ECONOMICS AND LAW

Institute of Management Berlin (IMB)

Analysis of the Chinese steel industry
under the perspective of government intervention

Name of Student:

Wang Shuo

Matr. No.: 385301

Master's Thesis

Submitted in partial fulfilment for the degree of
"Master of Arts"

Supervisor: Associate Prof. Dr. Jiannan Guo

Prof. Dr. Hansjörg Herr

Date: June 28, 2014

countries have managed to concentrate their steel production, China still has a long way to go. The dispersion of steel producers initiated in the new steel age and the close ties to local and

Company	Province	Production (Mt)	Comments
Hebei Group	Hebei	42.8	Conglomerate consisting of multiple steel producers
BaoSteel	Shanghai	42.7
Wuhan Group	Hubei	36.4
Shagang	Jiangsu	32.3	Largest privately owned steel company
Shougang	Beijing	31.4	Forced out of Beijing to Hebei due to 2008 Olympics
AnSteel	Liaoning	30.2	Merged with Benxi in 2005
Shandong	Shandong	23.0
Maanshan	Anhui	17.3
Benxi	Liaoning	15.1	Merged with AnSteel in 2005
Valin	Hunan	14.1	Cooperation with ArcelorMittal
Jianlong	Hebei	13.8	Located in Tangshan
Rizhao	Shandong	13.2	Belongs to Shandong
Baotou	Inner Mongolia	10.2
Taiyuan	Shanxi	10.1
Jiuquan	Gansu	10.1
Pingxiang	Jiangxi	9.1
Zongheng	Hebei	9.1	Handan, co-owned by local gvt. and HK investors
Jinxi	Hebei	9.1	Tangshan, private company becoming state-owned in 1997
Xinyu	Jiangxi	8.7
Guofeng	Hebei	8.0	Tangshan, co-owned by local gvt. and HK investors
China total		716.5

List of China's 20 largest steel manufacturers. Companies marked grey are private owned. (World Steel Association, 2013)